Other Information

We feel our team is unique. It is composed of eight organizations, and the five firms that are traffic engineering and transportation planning specialists have been working together in a “consortium” for three years. We confer monthly on technical matters and opportunities. We support each other in production, in technical advice, and in experience, to create a strong resource. If one of us needs a resource or experience to address an issue, we draw upon each others’ skills. Few firms have the breadth of experience in Florida that this team brings.
