Good morning, Mr. Lewis.

The last time we spoke, I promised that you would hear from me by today. I have been in communication with several people this week. I had hoped I would have a "final answer" for you by this morning, but I received a request for more information yesterday afternoon from California (and I sent it to them immediately). Hopefully I will hear something today. Now that I have someone beyond our local office communicating with me, I will keep pushing for an answer.

Respectfully,

LENNAR
